The presentation of The Fisheries in the Census of 1875 was wanting in completeness, as was explained in the analysis tables of Volume II., Census of 1875; they were deficient in details as regarded the returns of the vessels engaged in fishing and also as regarded products, but the aggregates fully covered the fishing industry. The United States Census of 1880 made a great advance in the taking of the statistics of the fisheries of the Commonwealth, as far as details were concerned, but as the results were reported by Customs Districts the amount of fish caught in each city or town was not shown in the presentation; besides this the United States statistics of the fisheries contained information concerning manufactured fish, which is classified in Massachusetts censuses under the heading "Manufactures." It is not intended in the statistics presented for 1885 to include anything but fresh fish and those prepared by the addition of salt only for their proper preservation. The boneless, desiccated, canned fish, etc., will be found in the statistics of Manufactures under the heading "Food Preparations"; for this reason, in order to obtain the grand total of the fishing industry it will be necessary to add to the statistics of the fisheries the prepared fish of various kinds included in the statistics of Manufactures.

In comparing values for the years 1875 and 1885, it should be borne in mind that prices were higher in 1875 than in 1885, and that an equal or even less value in 1885 may mean a greater catch than in 1875. Figures have been kindly supplied us from establishments engaged in the fisheries, which enable us to state that the prices of fish in 1885 averaged 27½ less than in 1875; from a comparison made with 1880 it is found that fish were 11½ lower in 1880 than in 1875, and 24½ higher than in 1885.

This office has been aided greatly in obtaining statistics of the fisheries by the services of Mr. William A. Wilcox, Manager of the American Fish Bureau, Gloucester, Mass. He has kindly placed at the disposal of the office the material contained in his annual bureau report for 1887, and the chart of the fishing banks of North America originally used in his report is reproduced here with his consent. We received valuable aid, as regards comparisons and omissions, from the Report of the Commissioners of Inland Fisheries for the year ending December 31, 1885. The Commissioners' returns, showing the catch of pounds, weirs, salt and fresh water seines, and gill and dip nets, supplied official figures, which we could have obtained in no other way without great expense.

By the Census law the Census year began July 1, 1884, and ended June 30, 1885; as this year did not correspond with the fishing year and obliged the parties engaged in the business to report parts of two years, changes were made by which the majority of the statistics supplied cover the year from January 1, 1885, to December 31, 1885.

The fishery statistics for 1885 include the following points in detail by cities and towns, and all the results appear in this division of Volume II.

VESSELS.—The names of all vessels, boats, steamers, etc., engaged in the fisheries were obtained; in case they had no names their number and description were ascertained. In addition the following was secured: the year in which each vessel was built, the place where it was built, the tonnage, whether the vessel was registered or not, the original cost of the vessel and outfit, the present value of the vessel and outfit, the decrease in value of vessels, the average annual cost to keep in repair, and the number of months the vessel was engaged in the fisheries during the Census year.

OUTFIT.—The points asked for were the value of manila and hemp used for rigging, hawsers, etc., and a report of all the apparatus, etc., the vessels contained when ready for their trips, including seines and other fishing gear, barrels, salt, ice, provisions, ballast, and bait.

APPARATUS.—A description of the various kinds of apparatus used in the shore and other fisheries, and the number and value of each kind.

CAPITAL INVESTED.—The statistics of capital invested of previous Censuses have lacked completeness, for credit capital which is as essential to the carrying on of an industry as real or cash capital has been entirely omitted from the returns. Capital invested as given in the tables includes cash capital and all income from investments, interest, and all other aids to capital; that is, all the money needed and actually used to carry on the industry.

MARKETS, ETC.—The percentage of local and outside capital invested in each fishing port, the amount of exports and imports, the sales of fish at home and at other ports, the principal market for fishery products obtained by those engaged in the fishing industry, the value of the fish exported or sent to all foreign ports, and the value of fish imported or brought into the State from all foreign ports, appear in the tables.

PERSONS EMPLOYED.—A classification of persons employed by nationalities and sex was obtained; all persons of foreign birth who had been naturalized and who were citizens were considered as being American; only those born in foreign countries who had not been naturalized were considered as being of the respective foreign nationalities.

THE KIND OF FISH; WHERE CAUGHT.—Kinds of fish caught in American and British waters and the high seas respectively, and the quantity and value of the same, were obtained.

FOOD FISH PREPARATIONS.—Statistics were obtained of the quantity and value of the different kinds of prepared food fish. The names of various kinds of fish that are prepared, and the method of preparation for each specified kind of food fish, are given.

FISH PRODUCTS (ALL KINDS).—The quantity and value of oil, whalebone, and other fish products not intended for food, shell fish, and all kinds of food fish were secured. In the case of oysters the quantities of native and planted oysters were obtained, and the areas of oyster beds both native and planted.

SALT AND ICE.—The kind, quantity, and value of salt used in the fisheries, and the quantity and value of ice used for refrigeration, etc., are presented.

ACCIDENTS.—The number of deaths resulting from accidents or disaster during the Census year, and the number of employes permanently disabled by accidents during that year, with specification as to age, were obtained.

In addition to the above, statistics were obtained of motive power and machinery, tools, and implements, in use in the fishing industry, and space was supplied in which the party filling the schedule gave general information concerning the fisheries.

Capt. J. W. Collins, of the United States Fish Commission, in an article lately published in the Century, gives the area and location of the mackerel fishing grounds as follows:

"According to a report on the fishing grounds of North America, prepared by the United States Fish Commission, the total area of the mackerel fishing grounds off the eastern coast of the United States is 56,000 geographical square miles. Here, in our own waters, the most extensive and valuable mackerel fishery of the world is carried on. In addition to this, our fishermen have the right to fish in the waters of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, outside the three-mile limit; and thus is opened to them an additional area of 15,200 square miles, making a total of more than 70,000 square miles, over which they have an unquestioned right to prosecute their operations. Now, if we estimate the area of inshore waters frequented by our fishermen in pursuit of mackerel, we will be able to get an idea of their relative importance, always supposing that the fishery can be prosecuted as well inshore as it can off, which is not the fact, as will be shown hereafter. The north shore of Prince Edward Island and Cape Breton are the localities in the inshore British waters which are now chiefly visited by American vessels in pursuit of mackerel. The total area of the inshore waters in these regions commonly resorted to by American fishermen does not much exceed 775 square miles (if we follow the coast line), or about one per cent of the area of the mackerel fishing grounds to which they have an unquestioned right. Or, if we include the south shore of Nova Scotia and Cape Breton, the east side of Cape Breton and what is known as the 'West Shore'—from Point Escumac to Point Miscou—in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, we shall have a total area of 2,064 square miles. But a simple statement of the area of these inshore waters over which alone England has any control can convey little idea of their value. The mackerel fishery is now exclusively prosecuted with the great purse seine instead of by hook and line, which were formerly used. Therefore, the larger portion of this inshore area of water being too shallow and the bottom too rough to permit of the successful manipulation of the fishing apparatus, it is comparatively seldom that any fish are caught near the land. On the southern coast of Nova Scotia few fish are taken by American vessels, and these only during their migratory period. Thus it will be seen that the available area inside the limit is exceedingly small.

Then, too, the change in the method of fishing has, in recent years, led to the almost practical abandonment of the mackerel fishery in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Occasionally a considerable fleet enters the Gulf; but, since the results have generally been unsatisfactory, there have been seasons when only a very few vessels went there. It is true perhaps, that the mackerel being a remarkably erratic species, its movements cannot be predicted from year to year with any absolute certainty.

The results obtained in the past ten years, since the universal employment of the purse seine, may serve, however, as a fair basis in judging of the future. It is an historical fact, now well established by the most accurate and careful investigation and inquiry, that the catch of mackerel in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, not to speak of the inshore waters under British control, has been of comparative insignificance during the last decade. And even under the most favorable conditions, when the catch there has been exceptionally large, as in 1885, the total product of the Gulf mackerel fishery did not amount to more than eight per cent of the entire catch of the New England fleet. Of this, less than one-third was taken inside of the three-mile limit."

The fishing grounds of the western Atlantic are the largest and most valuable in the world. They attracted the attention of the early explorers who visited America, and who reported to their countrymen the extraordinary wealth of the western seas. The French fishermen were, however, the pioneers in the cod fisheries of the Western Atlantic, and it is fairly certain that as early as 1504 the Normans and Biscayans knew of the Newfoundland fisheries. Within twenty-five years after the discovery of America by Columbus the crews of fifty ships, Basque, Norman, Spanish, and Portuguese, were plying their lines on the great banks of Newfoundland, or more than three hundred years ago. According to the United States Fish Commission, the area of the off shore banks of North America, exclusive of the fishing grounds off Greenland and Iceland, is 73,123 geographical square miles, all of which, being on the high seas, are under the control of no nation, and free to all; these banks constitute a chain of submerged ocean plateaus elevated considerably above the surrounding sea bottom, and extending from Cape Cod to and including the Flemish Cap off the eastern coast of Newfoundland. They are the natural and favorite resort of the cod and halibut, and, as previously stated, constitute the largest and most unfailing resort for fishermen which is known to exist.

LOCATION OF FISHING BANKS.

George's Bank.—This fishing ground is celebrated for producing the finest codfish and halibut found off the North American continent. It is fished on at all times of the year by a large fleet from New England ports; seldom by vessels from other than United States ports. It extends about 70 miles north and south, and 80 miles east and west, in latitude  $41^{\circ}$  to  $42^{\circ} 30'$ , longitude  $66^{\circ} 15'$  to  $69^{\circ}$  west. Lowest depths, 2 1-2 fathoms; usual depths fished on, 25 to 80 fathoms. Halibut fares are taken on the east and northeast edge of the bank, in from 150 to 200 fathoms. Distance from Gloucester, E. S. E., 120 miles; the nearest land being Highland Light, Cape Cod, 95 miles.

Brown's Bank.—E. N. E. from George's, in latitude  $42^{\circ} 45'$ , longitude  $66^{\circ}$ . From the shoalest water the nearest land is Cape Sable, 45 miles N. E.

La Have Bank.—E. by S. from Brown's, in latitude  $43^{\circ}$ , longitude  $64^{\circ} 15'$ , distant from Brown's, 80 miles E. by S.; Shelburn, N. S., 60 miles distant, being the nearest land.

Sable Island Bank, or, as more generally known, Western Bank, in latitude  $43^{\circ}$  to  $44^{\circ} 15'$ , longitude  $59^{\circ} 15'$  to  $62^{\circ} 30'$ , about 75 miles north and south, 135 miles east and west. Nearest land from the fishing ground, Canso, N. S., 80 miles.

Banquereau.—Next in the chain of fishing banks, in longitude  $57^{\circ}$  to  $60^{\circ}$ , latitude  $44^{\circ} 05'$  to  $45^{\circ}$ , the western edge being just north of the eastern edge of Sable Island bank, both banks running about east and west. Nearest land, Cape Canso, N. S., 80 miles.

Saint Peter's Bank.—Lies in a N. W. and S. E. direction, in latitude  $45^{\circ} 10'$  to  $46^{\circ} 45'$ , longitude  $55^{\circ} 30'$  to  $57^{\circ} 20'$ . From the shoalest water to St. Pierre, Newfoundland, the nearest land, 75 miles.

Green's Bank.—Runs north and south, being between Saint Peter's and Grand Bank, is 60 miles long N. and S., and 40 miles wide E. and W., longitude between  $54^{\circ}$  and  $55^{\circ}$ , latitude  $45^{\circ}$  and  $46^{\circ}$ . Nearest land from shoalest water is Cape St. Mary's, Newfoundland, 70 miles distant.

Grand Bank of Newfoundland.—This celebrated bank, that for over three centuries has seldom failed of furnishing abundance of codfish, is triangular in shape, the longest direction being E. by S. and W. by N., in longitude  $48^{\circ}$  to  $54^{\circ}$ , latitude  $43^{\circ}$  to  $47^{\circ} 30'$ , being 270 miles wide, N. N. E. by S. S. W., and about the same distance in E. by S. and N. by W. direction. The shoalest water, 3 fathoms, is found on Virgin Rocks, Cape Race; Newfoundland, the nearest land, is 90 miles from shoalest water, and Gloucester, Mass., 835 miles.

Flemish Cap.—This ground is, to a small extent, fished on by American vessels; it is located about 300 miles east of the Grand Bank, and some 1,200 miles from Gloucester.

Greenland.—Is annually visited by a few vessels from Gloucester on halibut trips; distance from home port 1,600 miles.

Iceland.—The most distant fishing ground visited by American vessels; it is 2,400 miles from Gloucester, that port annually sending a small fleet, their catch being confined to halibut, of which a full fare is usually secured. Vessels from France and other European countries fish off this coast, mostly for codfish.

From the most reliable and available statistics, the fishing industry of North America and Europe is said to give employment to between 600,000 and 700,000 men, and nearly 150,000 vessels, the total annual product being about 1,500,000 tons or 3,000,000,000 pounds of fish.

VALUES AND OUTFIT.

[The inquiries relating to values and outfit were not uniformly answered; that is, for the same vessels all the answers were not supplied. In many cases it was impossible to answer. For this reason, it has been deemed best to give details of values and outfit for the town of Provincetown and the cities of New Bedford and Gloucester only, and one showing for the remainder of the cities and towns. These three places employ 68.94 per cent of all the vessels engaged in The Fisheries, 80.73 per cent of the total tonnage, and represent 77.24 per cent of the entire amount of working capital, which includes vessels and outfit. The figures for the places mentioned are thoroughly indicative as regards the points considered. Only those vessels were included in the tabulation for which answers to all related points were given. Provincetown and Gloucester are chiefly engaged in cod and mackerel fishing, while New Bedford employs larger vessels in the whale fishery. These facts will explain the variations in the results.]

This presentation includes three tables, the first showing the number of vessels for which returns were made as regards each inquiry; the second, the aggregate amount for all vessels for each inquiry; and the third, the average for each vessel for each inquiry.]

PRINCIPAL PORTS VISITED AND PRINCIPAL ARTICLES TRANSPORTED.

[In this table, the vessels owned by each individual, firm, etc., have a distinctive number, as,—382. In case the individual, firm, etc., have more than one vessel engaged in Commerce, the letter "A" is prefixed for the second vessel, "B" for the third, and so on. Under the column heading "To Port of—," the name of the State or country does not follow the name of the port, it always appearing in the table heading. When "Passengers" are carried, the fact is stated first under the column heading "Articles, etc., Transported." When "articles transported" are specified in the cases of vessels visiting more than one port, it does not follow that all the articles mentioned were carried to all of the ports; instead of this being the case, different articles were undoubtedly carried to different ports, but it is impossible to specify the particular articles carried to each port. In many cases the articles specified were brought back to Ports in Massachusetts instead of being transported to Ports outside of the Commonwealth. Under the column heading "Kind of Commerce," Coastwise Commerce is indicated by "C," Ocean Commerce by "O," and Coastwise and Ocean Commerce by "CO." Under the column heading "Flag," the American flag is indicated by "A," British by "B," and German by "G." Under the column heading "Number of Other Ports Visited" a figure appears which indicates the number of other ports to which the vessel considered went besides the one mentioned, on the same line, under the column heading "To Port of —." If, for instance, the number of other ports visited is two, they can be ascertained by finding the "vessel number" in the two other places in which it occurs.]

POPULATION, PRODUCTS, VALUATION, AND TAXATION: BY TOWNS.

[This presentation summarizes, by towns, the total population, the products of manufactures, agriculture, and the fisheries, with aggregates, and brings into comparison, for each city, town, and county, the returns made on May 1, 1885, to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, relating to valuation and taxation.

The first column in the table gives the total population; the second, third, and fourth the value of products of manufactures, agriculture, and the fisheries; the fifth, the aggregate value of all products; the sixth, the rank of each city, town, and county, as regards total products; the seventh, the total valuation, including real and personal estate, of the Commonwealth on May 1, 1885; the eighth, the total tax laid in 1885 for State, county, city, and town purposes; the ninth, the rate of total tax per $1,000 for each city, town, county, and for the State; the tenth, the average product per individual, obtained by dividing the aggregate product by the total population, including men, women, and children; the eleventh, the average valuation per individual, obtained by dividing the total valuation by the total population; the twelfth, the average taxation per individual, obtained by dividing the total tax by the total population; the thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth columns show the comparative rank of each city, town, and county, as regards, respectively, product per individual, valuation per individual, and taxation per individual, the highest product, valuation, or tax, being ranked as "1," and the lowest as "348," that being the number of cities and towns in the Commonwealth on May 1, 1885. In the county lines and in the recapitulation for the State and counties, the counties are ranked from "1" to "14."

The designation, an asterisk and dash ("—"), indicates that figures have been intentionally omitted in city or town presentations, in the columns headed "Manufactures" and "Aggregates," in order to avoid disclosing facts concerning individual establishments. These figures are, however, included in the county and State totals.]

POPULATION, PRODUCTS, VALUATION, AND TAXATION: BY TOWNS.

[This presentation summarizes, by towns, the total population, the products of manufactures, agriculture, and the fisheries, with aggregates, and brings into comparison, for each city, town, and county, the returns made on May 1, 1885, to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, relating to valuation and taxation.]

The first column in the table gives the total population; the second, third, and fourth the value of products of manufactures, agriculture, and the fisheries; the fifth, the aggregate value of all products; the sixth, the rank of each city, town, and county, as regards total products; the seventh, the total valuation, including real and personal estate, of the Commonwealth on May 1, 1885; the eighth, the total tax laid in 1885 for State, county, city, and town purposes; the ninth, the rate of total tax per $1,000 for each city, town, county, and for the State; the tenth, the average product per individual, obtained by dividing the aggregate product by the total population, including men, women, and children; the eleventh, the average valuation per individual, obtained by dividing the total valuation by the total population; the twelfth, the average taxation per individual, obtained by dividing the total tax by the total population; the thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth columns show the comparative rank of each city, town, and county, as regards, respectively, product per individual, valuation per individual, and taxation per individual, the highest product, valuation, or tax, being ranked as "1," and the lowest as "348," that being the number of cities and towns in the Commonwealth on May 1, 1885. In the county lines and in the recapitulation for the State and counties, the counties are ranked from "1" to "14."

The designation, an asterisk and dash (*—), indicates that figures have been intentionally omitted in city or town presentations, in the columns headed "Manufactures" and "Aggregates," in order to avoid disclosing facts concerning individual establishments. These figures are, however, included in the county and State totals.]
